IGNACY STARCZYNSKI

ABOUT ME

At the age of 17, I made a bold decision and left school to pursue programming, enrolling in school part-time to focus on pursuing my dreams. Over the past two years, starting from 2021, programming has become my true passion. I began with game development in Unity and later transitioned to web applications. Consistently, I put forth my best efforts to turn every project I work on into a masterpiece. I find motivation in challenges and the thirst for acquiring knowledge of new technologies. I highly cherish every opportunity for growth, and my dedication to programming remains unwavering. Presently, I am engaged in developing web applications using ASP.NET MVC.
